3. Privacy

Protecting your personal information. At Quadrus, we're committed to protecting personal information and respecting your privacy. Personal information is information that either on its own or combined with other information allows an individual to be identified. This includes your name and address, as well as more sensitive information such as your financial records. When applicable, this includes information about other people such as your spouse, common-law partner, and children.

How we use your personal information. Your personal information is used to provide you with products and services and to improve our business operations. This includes verifying your identity, maintaining your profile, and informing you about features of the products you already have with us. It's also used to provide you with advice, evaluate your eligibility for products, price our products, collect feedback on our customer service, process financial transactions, protect you and us from risks such as cyber threats and fraud, and comply with legal obligations. If you provided your social insurance number (SIN), we'll use it for tax reporting. Your SIN is also used to link your products together and to keep your information separate from other customers with similar names.

Who we share personal information with. We share your personal information with other people and organizations who help us administer your products and provide you with services. This may include your investment representative or people who work with your investment representative, Canada Life and its Canadian subsidiaries, and other organizations that provide us services such as technology suppliers and fund companies. As part of our day-to-day business, your personal information may be communicated to government departments and agencies, and may be communicated outside your province of residence or outside Canada. We take protecting your personal information seriously and we'll never sell your personal information to anyone.

You're in control of your personal information. We respect your privacy preferences and follow them when using your personal information. At any point in your relationship with us, you can choose how your personal information is used by updating your privacy preferences through your online account at canadalife.com/sign-in or by submitting a request through our privacy centre at canadalife.com/contact-us/corporate/privacy-rights-request. This includes choosing whether you receive customer experience surveys, the use of your SIN for non-tax reporting purposes, and whether and how you want to receive information and offers from Quadrus using the personal information we collect from you throughout your relationship with us. You can also exercise other privacy rights through our privacy centre such as access to or correction of your personal information.

If you choose to remove your consent to the collection, use and disclosure of the personal information required to serve you and meet our legal obligations, we may not be able to continue to provide you with products and services.

4. Agreement, signatures and consent

You acknowledge that investments in shares of units of a mutual fund are not guaranteed, and that the value of your shares of units will fluctuate according to the changes in the market value.

You understand and acknowledge the following:

- The switch is subject to approval.
- A minimum value, as applicable, must be held in this account or other specific eligible products.
- Additional documentation may be required.
- Where a redemption charge schedule is applicable on the units being redeemed you understand a redemption charge will be charged.
- Quadrus may receive a trailing commission on the purchase of mutual funds.

Switches/Conversions: You have received a copy of the Fund Facts.

Mature Units Switch disclosure: You understand and acknowledge the following:

- Where units are held under a Deferred Sales Charge (DSC) option, you may hold both matured units (meaning they are no longer subject to a redemption charge) and units still subject to a redemption charge.
- If you redeem units from a DSC option prior to expiry of the redemption charge schedule, you will be subject to a redemption charge. Subject to any DSC exempt redemptions, as permitted by your contract.
- Where applicable, the trailing sales commission for Front-end load units is generally greater than that paid for DSC units.
- There will be no transaction or ongoing incremental costs associated with this switch. The management expenses ratio of the applicable Funds will not increase as a result of this switch.
- If this is a taxable event, the implications have been disclosed to you.

4. Agreement, signatures and consent (continued)

The undersigned hereby requests and authorizes the fund company to redeem units or shares on the basis indicated above, in accordance with the terms and conditions of the Fund Facts.

You understand that your personal information will be collected, used and shared as set out above.
